

Annals of American History Online

A unique view of American history through primary source documents.

from Encyclopedia Britannica

Discover the backbone of American history, society, and culture with Encyclopædia Britannica's Annals of American History Online. This valuable online chronicle provides a year-by-year documentary of American thought, action, and daily life. Read the original words of more than 1,500 authors who made and analyzed American history through speeches, writings, and interviews.

Annals of American History Online is organized by time, subject, and author to allow students to learn the relationships between important events and issues. It is ideal for research as well as thought-provoking discussions and debates.

Highlights include:

- Over 2,000 primary source documents dating back to 1493
- Hundreds of images and multimedia clips
- Speeches, essays, biographies, landmark court decisions, editorials, poems, song verses, and more
- Contributors include Christopher Columbus, Abigail Adams, Benjamin Franklin, and Davy Crockett
- Primary source documents include the U.S. Constitution, the Gettysburg Address, John Smith's account of his adventure with Pocahontas, Franklin D. Roosevelt's request for a declaration of war, and Richard Nixon's resignation from the presidency

The screenshot shows the website's header with the title "Britannica ANNALS OF AMERICAN HISTORY" and an American flag. Below the header is a navigation bar with "Home", "Help", and "Guided Tour" links. The main content area is divided into several sections:

- Welcome to the Annals of American History: A yellow sidebar with a quote: "Explore the rich and varied history of the United States through speeches, historical accounts, memoirs, poems, images, and multimedia." It features a small image of the "We the People" document.
- Timeline: A section titled "Click on a time period below to see selections from those years." It contains a grid of year buttons from 1493 to 1987, with a red bar highlighting the years 1754 through 1987.
- Browse by Author: A section titled "Click on a letter to find authors by their last name." It lists letters from A to Z in a blue font.
- Topics in American History: A section titled "Find materials related by common subject matter." It lists various topics with blue arrows pointing to them: American Democracy, Arts & Leisure, Business & Industry, Race, Gender and Diversity, Education, Exploration and Expansion, Family and Daily Life, Government & Law, Labor, National Character, Religion, and War & Peace.
- Search the Annals of American History: A search bar with a "Go" button and a checkbox for "Not sure of the spelling?".
- Statue of Liberty: A large image of the Statue of Liberty on the right side of the page.